UNION DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

ADOPTED IN STATE CONVENTION JANUARY, 8, 1862. WHEREAS, The Democratic party having, from the date of its organization, been in favor of the maintenance of the Union and the preservation o the Constitution, and seeing in the present condition of the country the deplorable effects of a departure from its time-honored and conservative les, and the triumph of sectionalism; and firmly believing that the Union and the Constitution can be preserved alone by the restoration of that party to power, we invite all true Union men throughout the land to unite with us in sustaining its organization and carrying out its principles:

Resolved, 1. That we reaffirm and endorse the olitical principles that from time to time have been put forth by the National Conventions of the Democratic party.

2. That we are unalterably attached to the Constitution, by which the Union of these States was formed and established; and that a faithful observance of its principles can alone continue the existence of the Union, and the permanent appiness of the people.

3. That the present civil war has mainly resuited from the long continued, unwise, and fanatical agitation, in the North, of the question of domestic slavery, the consequent organization of a geographical party, guided by the sectional platforms adopted at Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Phila-delphia, and Chicago, and the development thereby of sectional hate and jealousy, producing (as had long been foreseen and predicted by us) its counterpart in the South of secession, disunion, and armed resistance to the General Government, and terminating in a bloody selfe between those who should have been forever bound together by fraternal bonds, thus bringing upon the whole country a calamity which we are now to meet as loyal citizens, striving for the adoption of that mode of settlement best calculated to again restore union and harmony.

4. That in rejecting all propositions likely to result in a satisfactory adjustment of the matters in dispute between the North and the South, and especially those measures which would have secured the border slave States to the Umon, and a hearty co-operation on their part in all constitu-tional and legal measures to procure a return of the more Southern States to their allegiance, the Republican party assumed a fearful responsibility, and acted in total disregard of the best interests of the whole country.

5. That if the party in power had shown the same desire to settle, by amicable adjustment, our internal dissensions before hostilities had actually commenced, that the Administration has recently exhibited to avoid a war with our ancient enemy, Great Britain, we confidently believe that peace and harmony would now reign throughout all our borders.

6. That the maintenance of the Union upon he principles of the Federal Constitution should be the controlling object of all who profess loyalty to the Government-and in our judgment this purpose can only be accomplished, by the ascendency of a Union party in the Southern States, which shall, by a counter revolution, displace those who control and direct the present repellion. That no effort to create or sustain such a party can be successful which is not based upon a definite settlement of the questions at issue between the two sections; and we therefore demand that some such settlement be made by additional constitutional guaranty, either initiated by act of Congress or through the medium of a National

7. That the Republican party has fully demonstrated its inability to conduct the Government through its present difficulties. 3. That we are utterly opposed to the twin heresies. Northern sectionalism and Southern secession, as inimical to the Constitution; and that freemen, as they value the boon of civil liberty and the peace of the country, should frown indignantly upon them.

9. That in this national emergency the Democracy of Indiana, banishing all feeling of passion and resentment, will recollect only their duty to the whole country; that this war should not be waged in the spirit of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfor-ing with the rights or institutions of the States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease.

10. That we will sustain, with all our energies a war for the maintenance of the Constitution, and of the integrity of the Union under the Constitution; but we are opposed to a war for the emanci pation of the negroes, or the subjugation of the

11. That the purposes avowed and advocated by the Northern disunionists, to liberate and arm the negro slaves, is unconstitutional, insulting to loyal citizens, a disgrace to the age, is calculated to retard the suppression of the rebellion and meets our unqualified condemnation.

12. That the total disregard of the writ of haheas corpus by the authorities over us, and the seizure and imprisonment of the citizens of loyal States where the judiciary is in full operation, without warrant of law and without assigning any cause or giving to the party arrested any opportunity of defense, are flagrant violations of the Constitution and most alarming acts of usurpation of power, which should receive the stern rebuke of every lover of his country and of every man who prizes the security and blessings of life, liberty and

13. That liberty of speech and of the press are guaranteed to the people by the Constitution, and none but a usurper would deprive them of these rights; they are inestimable to the citizen and formidable to tyrants only. And the attempts which have been made since our present unfortunate troubles, to muzzle the press and stifle free discussion, are exercises of despotic power against which freedom revolts and which can not be tolerated without converting freemen into slaves. 14. That the seizure of Slidell and Mason, on board a neutral vessel, on the high seas, was either in accordance with international law, and so legal; or else in violation of such law, and so illegal. If the former, we lament that our nation has been humiliated by their surrender, under a threat; if the latter, it was the duty of the Administration at once to have disavowed the act of their officer, and instead of incarcerating the captives in Fort Warren, to have immediately re paired the wrong by placing them, as far as prac-ticable, in the same condition in which that officer had found them. In either event, the action of the Administration was vacillating land cowardly, and degrading to the dignity of a great na-

15. That the action of the Republican party, as manifested in the partisan character of all appointments of the Administration to civil office: and, in holding party caucuses by the Republican members of Congress for the purpose of impressing upon the legislative action of that body the peculiar dog mas of that party, have demonstrated that their professions of "sacrificing party platforms, and party organizations, upon the altar of their country, are but so many hypocritical and false pretences by which they hope to dupe the unwary into their support; and we warn all loyal persons, as they love their country, not to be deceived thereby.

16. That the disclosures made by the investiating committee in Congress of the enormous uds that have stalked into the army and navy extments, implicating the heads of those de ients in a connivance at, if not an actual ipation in a system of corruption, and in a our brave soldiers have been detranded of proper supplies, and our Government threatwith bankruptey, demands a thorough ingation into all our expenditures, both State nd National, and that a speedy and marked exmple be made of all such "birds of prev," who, taking advantage of the necessities of our coun

Resolved. That the meritorious conduct of the fiana troops, in every battle field where victory perched upon the national banner, has filled ople of this State with the highest gratiher gallant sons, and that we send our hes to officers and men, dispersed throughe country, and the heartfelt greetings of mocrat for their further brilliant achievethe coming contests for the maintenance [Farewell Address, September 17, 1796.] "In contemplating the causes which may disturb our Union; it occurs, as a matter of serious concern, that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discriminations-Northern and Southern, Atlantic and Western-whence designing men may endeavor to excite a belief that there is a real difference of local interests and views. One of the expedients of party to acquire influence within particular districts, is to misrepresent the opinions and aims of other districts. You cannot shield yourselves too much against the jealousies and heart-burnings which spring from these misrepresentations; they tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fra-

ADMONITION OF JACKSON. [Farewell Address, March 3, 1827.]

"But the Constitution cannot be maintained, nor the Union preserved, in opposition to public feeling, by the mere exertion of the coercive powers confided to the General Government. The foundations must be laid in the affections | Adjutant, and Regimental Quarterof the people; in the security which it gives to life, liberty and property in every quarter of the country; and in the fraternal attachments which the citizens of the several States bear one to another as members of one political family, mutually contributing to promote the happiness of each other. Hence, the citizens of each State should studiously avoid everything calculated to wound the sensibility or offend the just pride of the people of other States; and they should frown upon any proceedings within their own borders likely to disturb the tranquility of their political brethren in other portions of the

In a country so extensive as the United States, and in pursuits so varied, the internal regulations of the several States must frequently differ from one another in important particulars; and this difference is unavoidably increased by the varying principles upon which the American colonies were originally planted; principles which had taken deep root in their social relations before the Revolution, and therefore, of necessity, influencing their policy since they became free and independent States. But each State has the unquestionable right to regulate its own internal concerns according to its own pleasure; and while it does not interfere with the rights of the people of other States, or the rights of the Union, every State must be the sole judge of the measures proper to secure the safety of its citizens and promote their happiness; and all efforts on the part of the people of other States to cast odium upon their institutions, and all measures calculated to disturb their rights of property, or to put in jeopardy their peace and internal tranquility, are in direct opposition to the spirit in which the Union was formed, and must endanger its safety. Motives of philanthropy may be assigned for this unwarrantable interference, and weak men may persuade themselves, for a moment, that they are laboring in the cause of humanity, and asserting the rights of the human race, but every one, upon sober reflection, will see that nothing but mischief can come from these improper assaults upon the feelings and rights of others. Rest as sured that the men found busy in this work of discord are not worthy of your confidence, and deserve your strongest reprobation." BY JAMES MADISON.

[Federalist, No. 14.] tells you that the people of America, knit to gether as they are by so many cords of affection, can no longer live together as members of the same family; can no longer continue the mutual guardians of their mutual happiness; can no and flourishing empire. Hearken not to the voice which petulantly tells you that the Government recommended for your adoption is a novelty in the political world; that it has never yet had a place in the theories of the wildest projectors; that t rashly attempts what it is impossible to accomplish. No, my countrymen; shut your ears against this unhallowed language; shut your hearts against the poison which it conveys. The kindred blood which flows in the veins of American citizens, the mingled blood which they have shed in defense of their sacred rights, consecrate their Union, and excite horror at the idea of their becoming, aliens, rivals, enemies. And if novelties are to be shunned, believe me the most alarming of all novelties, the most wild of all projects, is that of rending us in pieces in order to preserve our liberties and promote our hap-

NEW AND VALUABLE WORK FOR LAWYERS, JUSTICES OF THE PEACE,

And all Connected with the Judicial Administration of THE STATUTE Of the State of ndiana, MONTAINING THE REVISED STATUTES OF 1952 with the amendments thereto, and the subsequen legislation, with notes and references. Judicial decisions. JAMES GAVIN AND OSCAR ORD.

Volume 1, Published by BINGHAM & DOUGHTY, INDIANAPOLIS.

Judge David McDonald, one of the most eminent lawyers of the State, volunteered the following ecommendation of the work:

STATUTES OF INDIANA, BY GAVIN & HORD .- Some months ago, the above named gentlemen issued proposals for publishing, in two volumes octavo of some 800 pages each, al the statutes of the State passed since 1851, with annota-tions. The first volume of the work is now published; and the manner of its execution, both mechanically and editothe manner of its execution, both mechanically and editorially, deserves the thanks of the profession.

The imperfect manner of publishing our statutes under State authority, has always been a source of great inconvenience to the Indiana Lawyer. The revision of 1852, as well as the statutes passed since that year, might almost as well have been published without any index. Up to this time the lawyer has constantly been under the necessity of turning over, leaf by leaf, the volumes o our statutes to find any particular enactment. And every one knows how annoying and provoking this is, especially in the hurry of business as in our Courts. Happily for the profession, the publication under consideration promises a better state of things in the future. The first volume o Messrs. Gavin & Hord's work contains an excellent and copious index, which to every practicing lawyer in the state is itself worth the money which the volume costs. The volume under review contains another excellence Allits pages are supplied with valuable marginal indices, so that a glance at the margin is sufficient to apprise the eader of the contents of the page, Another matter of great importance to the lawyer in this volume is a good collection of the subjects of all leg-islation since 1851. Heretofore, the lawyer in examining our legislation on any given subject had first to find what was relevant to it in the Revision of 1852, and then to turn over the pages of the volumes of subsequent Statutes, to see how far recent legislation may have repealed or mod fied the provisions contained in that Revision, and even then he would often feel doubt whether he had found all the legislation on the subject of his inquiry. Messrs. Gavin and Hord have relieved us of all this trouble and doubt. They have collected together in consecutive pages all the statutes made since 1851, on the same subject.

Thus, on pages 373 to 377 of their first volume they have collected all our legislation, now in force, on the subject o husband and wife, including the act of 1852 and three acts of 1857. And they have followed the same mode of coocation, in appropriate consecutive pages, in regard to all other topics of legislation.

A still more valuable feature are the copious and accurate notes contained in the volume in question. This volome includes the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of Indiana, and several important acts of Virginia and statutes of Congress, and a large portion o our own statutes now in force. The numerous decisions o the Courts on the various provisions contained in these Constis tutions and statutes are found at the bottom of the appropriate pages, in the form of neat, brief and accurate noteand references. Messrs. Gavin & Hord seem to have performed this part of their work exceedingly well. It must have cost them much care and labor. By it they have have introduced the latest and fastest Presses, and have greatly lessened the labor of the practising lawyer, and have well merited his grateful approval.

In every respect the volume under review is highly redadded to our Type all the modern styles, and we employ itable to the dilligence, accuracy, talents and the taste o its editors, as well as to the mechanical skill and neatness of its publishers, and it must raise the just expectation or the profession, as to the value of the second volume, which we understand will be forthcoming in a few months, and which will contain the code of pleading and practice of 1852, with subsequent amendments and other statutes Without any concert with the editors or publishers of the prices. volume in question, the writer of this article has been induced to compose and publish this little review of the book, solely because he believes the editors and publishers deserve high commendation for their performance. He therefore, deems it but just to them, without being solicited to it by any one, to publish this notice of the book over his own proper name. DAVID McDONALD. Indianapolis, November 1, 1860. These Bitters for the cure of WRAK STOMACHS, GENERAL

DEBILITY, and for PURIFYING and ENRICHING the BLOOD, are absolutely unsurpassed by any other remedy on earth.

To be assured of this, it is only necessary to make the trial. The Wine itself is of a very superior quality, being about one-third stronger than other wines; warming and

ter, so they strengthen and invigorate the whole system and give a fine tone and healthy action to all its parts.
